Margorie BURNS

"Dr. Samaha, how shall I say words that may seem dramatic about teeth? I know how to feel about them... they will never again be just mine; they will be yours and mine.... You always seem to go beyond your grasp until you reach and catch up with yourself. 'Yourself' is always there and you take time and care to consult that self who carries the need for art and beauty to reach from your hands to our need for healthy and lovely smiles. What a great gift you have to give to all who are lucky enough to stroll down the path the ends in you."
